

Snowboard Legends unleashed! 10 years of Longboard Classic

April 18, 2009 – Longboard Classic / Stuben am Arlberg

Numerous snowboard legends have applied for the 10th anniversary of the Longboard Classic in Stuben:

Chuck Barfoot, owner of the correspondent snow-surf- and skate firm and one of the 4 founding fathers of snowboarding. Terry Kidwell, the „Godfather of Freestyle“, 4 times Freestyle World Champion and legendary Sims team rider as well as Shawn Farmer, the freeride legend who showed us in the late 80ies what it is like being a local in Alaska. Terry and Shawn are also going to get the audience rocking with their band „Hunk of Metal“, which is probably the most legendary snowboard band in the world: Terry Kidwell (guitar), Shawn Farmer (vocals), Bob Klein (drums), Scotty Milburn (bass), Jeff Hackett (lead guitar & vocals).

But that is not all: It will be the ultimate class reunion. Three generations of snowboard heroes from the fields industry, riders and media will celebrate ten years of Longboard Classic together!

The Longboard Classic race will go down 1,001 altitude difference off-piste as usual from the Albona Grat (2,408m) in a Le Mans mass start to Stuben Village (1,407m), whereas there will be 3 categories (old school, boys and girls).

The credo like always is not to be first but to meet friends, find new ones and to have fun snowboarding with like-minded people. Naturally, longboards and freeride equipment from various firms can be tested at the event.

To make registration as easy as possible on the actual day of the race, we recommend that you register via the homepage in advance. The provisional list of participants is published on www.longboardclassic.com and can be sorted by post code, city or name so you can easily create car pools.

Get your friends together and join the 10th anniversary of the Longboard Classic together with numerous snowboard legends!
